DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 22-28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Scherer (4,440,181) in view of Conard et al (4,936,449). Scherer shows low viscosity material dispenser comprising a block of pliable material 14 having a slit 34 formed in one side, a low viscosity material placed in the slit, and an applicator 16 having an applicator end 36. Scherer does not teach that the block has six sides or a pressure sensitive adhesive with a backing formed on the side of the block opposite the side with the slit. Without a showing of criticality, the shape of the block (and the container) is considered to have been an obvious design choice, to one of ordinary skill in the art. Conard shows a material dispenser comprising a block of pliable material 20 and that the pliable material may be held in place by a pressure sensitive adhesive 22 and a protective backing 24 covers the adhesive. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide the block of Scherer with a pressure sensitive adhesive and a protective backing covering the adhesive, in view of Conard, in order to more securely hold the block in the container. In response to applicant's argument that the prior art does not teach a low viscosity material to be applied in a dental procedure, a recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim. In a claim drawn to a process of making, the intended use must result in a manipulative difference as compared to the prior art. See In re Casey, 152 USPQ 235 (CCPA 1967) and In re Otto, 136 USPQ 458, 459 (CCPA 1963). As to claims 23 and 27, note that the block of Scherer may be covered on all but one of the sides by an impervious material 12.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 29-40 are allowed.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claim 22 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
